INSURANCE COMPANIES WILL SETTLE LOSSES

Each Company Will Settle In Own Fashion.

WILL NOT BE ON UNIFORM BASIS

The Underwriters' Bureau Will Make No Attempt to Dictate or Lay Down Rules for Companies to Observe in the Settlement of Claims.

San Francisco, May 17.—The insurance companies will settle their losses in their own way, each company acting for itself, according to the contracts embodied in the policies and the fire underwriters adjusting bureau will make no attempt to dictate a general policy or lay down uniform rules for the companies to observe in the settlement of claims, according to a statement made by Attorney T. C. Coogan, who is legal adviser to the adjusting bureau.

The adjusting bureau is merely to act as a board of appraisers in dealing with claims, and only report on losses sustained, leaving the settlement entirely to the respective companies. Mr. Coogan said:

"The settlement of claims will not be on any uniform basis. Each company will settle its own losses in its own fashion. It has its own contracts embodied in its own policies, and its own attorneys to advise it. The adjusting bureau has no power to lay down any uniform course or policy for observation by the companies, no power to compel them to waive conditions and legal rights.

"No proposition looking toward uniformity of action has been suggested, nor is there any truth in the report that it is contemplated to cut losses all down the line and settle upon a percentage basis.

"The companies will pay what they legally owe. Moreover, they will be perfectly fair, but they will obey no rules laid down for them by any bureau."

Attorney Coogan's statement was corroborated by H. F. Wood, chairman of the committee of fifteen, which transacted all the executive business of the general adjusting bureau. On and after Monday next the underwriters' bureau, which at present meets in Oakland, proposes to hold meetings in San Francisco.

The special committee of the Merchants' association of San Francisco, an insurance, composed of Andrew M. Davis, Byron Mauney and Alton G. Wright, sent a letter to insurance commissioner Wolf on May 10th, asking him to compel the insurance companies to furnish needed information in cases where policies were destroyed by fire.

TROOPS AND STRIKERS CLASH IN SARDINIA

Several People Were Killed And Wounded.

WORKMEN FORCED TO STRIKE

All the Shops Are Closed, No Newspapers Have Appeared, and the Suspension of Work Is General—Asked Mayor of City to Resign.

New York, May 17.—A cable from Cagliari, Sardinia, to the Herald says: Several persons were killed and many wounded in a collision between troops and strikers here Tuesday and further trouble is expected. Reinforcements of the small garrison have been urgently demanded, and warships with troops have left Genoa and Leghona.

Trouble began Monday as the culmination of a great increase in the price of food and an anarchistic agitator led the workmen to strike.

Thousands of men marched to the state tobacco manufactory and to the other establishments, forcing the workmen to strike, smashing windows of shops and upsetting street cars and cabs.

There was another and more serious demonstration yesterday. Preceded by a woman bearing a red flag with a large loaf of bread on top of the staff, a parade of strikers was formed and passed in front of the mayor's house, demanding his resignation.

Next they went to the railway station, which was guarded by troops, whom they proceeded to stone. The soldiers stood their ground without firing until the colonel, Count San Martino, and Captain Gangini had been injured by missiles, and 25 of the troops and police agents seriously wounded.

Then there was a scattering fusillade from the soldiers and the crowd fled in panic, leaving 42 of its number lying wounded in the street. Of these two died before reaching the hospital, four are dying and eleven are in a dangerous condition.

All the shops are closed, no newspaper has appeared and the suspension of work is general.

The superintendent was unable to comply with this demand, and threats were made to blow up the office and commissary buildings. Armed Posse at Rome Seeks Negro Assailant of Little Girl.

Rome, Ga., May 17.—An unknown negro, about 18 years old, attempted to criminally assault Janie McElhaney, the 13-year-old daughter of Ben McElhaney, Tuesday evening about 6 o'clock.

The little girl had been to Lytle Spring to get some water. She was accompanied by a child named Grace Landroth, aged 10 years. As they were leaving the spring they were accosted by the negro, who told them if they would go with him to a place nearby and pick strawberries for him he would give them 10 cents a quart for all they could pick.

The children started with the negro and when they reached a secluded spot, he seized little Janie McElhaney by the back of the neck and began choking her.

She immediately began to scream loudly, and jerking away from the negro she ran to a nearby house and told of the occurrence.

The negro in the meantime escaped.

The news of the affair spread like wildfire, and soon an armed posse was in search of the negro. Two negroes were arrested soon after the alleged assault and taken before the child, but neither proved to be the guilty party.

SEVERAL CASES DISPOSED OF

Two Prisoners Arraigned for Murder, and Pleaded Guilty to Manslaughter. Other Cases of Less Gravity Brought Before the Court.

The second week of the Circuit Court for the Eight Judicial Circuits of Florida, spring term, was called to order by His Honor Judge J. T. Willis of Starke Thursday morning, when the court was organized for the work to come before it for the present week.

The court, which was adjourned on Saturday of last week on account of the primary of Tuesday, should have organized on Wednesday afternoon, but a number of those summoned to appear on the jury, and a number of attorneys interested in various cases, were not here, and the court got down to business Thursday.

The court began by empanelling as a jury the following:

J. A. J. Strickland, Jas. F. Burnett, C. F. Rench, E. L. Jackson, R. E. Johnson, J. S. Broome, R. B. Peeler, John Goss, A. J. DeCosta, E. Baird, G. J. Guthrie, J. A. Robertson.

The following cases were disposed of:

State vs. Dock Dell, breaking and entering, with intent to commit a misdemeanor. Prisoner arraigned, pleaded not guilty. Jury called and sworn, evidence and argument submitted, verdict of guilty.

State vs. Boss Robinson, concealed weapons. Appeal from justice court. Verdict, not guilty.

State vs. Mathew White, concealed weapons. Appeal from justice court. Appeal dismissed, defendant remanded.

State vs. Willis Davis, murder. Defendant arraigned and pleaded guilty to manslaughter.

State vs. Walston Logan, murder. Defendants arraigned and pleaded guilty to manslaughter.

After a few minor matters, the court adjourned until Friday morning at 9 o'clock.

GAINESVILLE WAS VICTORIOUS.

Game Between Gainesville and High Springs Was An Exciting One.

Considering the fact that the baseball contest pulled off on the local diamond between Gainesville and High Springs Thursday was of an amateur nature, the game nevertheless proved very interesting, resulting in a score of nine to ten in favor of the home team.

The game was well attended, and was well played, from the standpoint of those who were not accustomed to witness the professional side of the National game. It may be said that at least both teams did as well as they could, which is all that could have been expected.

Gainesville was victorious in the first game and we should all tip our hats to Manager Burkham.

Bottling Firm Dissolves.

As will be seen by notice elsewhere in this paper, the co-partnership heretofore existing between J. B. Davis and J. B. Brooks, under the firm name of the Gainesville Bottling Works, has been dissolved, Mr. Davis retiring.

The business will be continued by Mr. Brooks, who is a practical bottling workman, and who will continue the business up to its present high standard.

The Gainesville Bottling Works was established here many years ago by Mr. Davis. In fact, it was the pioneer factory of the kind in this section, has always manufactured goods of the highest order, and has always maintained the best reputation for purity. It is needless to add that Mr. Brooks will continue the production of such goods as will retain his reputation.

Off to Cedar Key.

Mrs. Robert McMillan and children, Mrs. C. V. McKinstry, and Misses Alice Taylor and Annie Melvaine, bent on a few days' outing on the seashore, have gone to Cedar Key, where they expect to remain for a couple of weeks. This is a jolly crowd, and it goes without saying that the time at Cedar Key will be enjoyably spent.

A DIFFERENCE IN LUNGS.

In the Edinburgh University three human lungs lie side by side. One is of an Eskimo and is snow white. In life, this would be ruddy with rich blood. Another is that of a coal-miner and is black. The other is of a town dweller and is a dirty slate gray, as are the lungs of most city residents. That's why consumption thrives in cities.

One reason why Scott's Emulsion does so much to keep down consumption is because it helps to keep the lungs clean and supplies them with rich, red blood. It makes the lungs germ-resisting. If the body is run down and health is at a low ebb Scott's Emulsion will build it up quickly and permanently.

THE NEWS FROM ARCHER.

Closing of Term of School—Notes of Personal Interest.

(From a Special Correspondent.)

Archer, May 17.—The public school closed last Thursday with very interesting exercises, recitations, debates and music.

The ladies of Archer gave a picnic in honor of Professor Dickson and Miss Anderson, his assistant, on Friday. The table was loaded with good things, and everyone did justice to it. Professor Dickson furnished ice cream for the entire crowd, students and citizens, and all thoroughly enjoyed his treat.

The young people of Archer gave us a treat Monday night in the play "The Breakers," and it was certainly fine. Mrs. Howard from Memphis, Miss Elsie Smith, Mrs. George Fleming, Miss Minnie Snavely, Mr. R. B. Hodgson, Professor Dickson, Messrs. Sam and Guy Fleming, Turner Dunn and Mr. Brown rendered their difficult parts so naturally and correctly that everyone enjoyed the whole play.

Professor Dickson left this morning for his Tennessee home, much to the regret of his many friends in Archer. Miss Anderson has returned to White Springs, and will be missed by her loved ones and friends.

Mr. Osborn, who has been quite sick, returned to Indiana Wednesday morning, accompanied by his wife and children. He is a noble old gentleman, and has the sympathy of all in Archer.

MR. ROGERS INTERESTING.

Spoke on His Recent Visit to Baptist Convention at Chattanooga.

The prayer meeting service at the First Baptist Church Thursday evening was of unusual interest, since Rev. S. B. Rogers, pastor of this church, who has just returned from the convention of the Southern Baptist Church at Chattanooga, addressed those present on the meeting and its deliberations.

The prayer meeting was more largely attended than usual, owing to the fact that Mr. Rogers had stated through The Sun that he would talk upon this subject. For nearly an hour he held the attention of those present, and, inasmuch as he is a most fluent and interesting speaker, commanded the deepest interest.

The Political Situation.

The political situation in the election of candidates from Alachua county is unchanged from the report of Thursday, with the exception of the office of State Attorney, for which Calhoun, Rivers and Fielding have been contestants. Complete returns from the Eighth Circuit give Fielding a majority of only two votes over Rivers, with the result that Calhoun and Fielding will be in the second primary.

Freight Claim Agents' Convention.

St. Louis, May 17.—The fifteen annual convention of the Freight Claim Agents' association of the United States, Canada and Mexico, began here Wednesday and will be in session for three days.

HAIR AND BEARDS.

They Have Played Important Parts in the World's History.

In centuries past the human hair played an important part in all judicial proceedings. Those that were permitted to wear beard and hair had rights that could not be claimed by the shorn and shaved. When men made oath they touched their beard and hair, and women placed the finger tips of the right hand on their tresses.

Servants were obliged to have their hair cut, and if a freedman went into slavery he had to divest himself of his hirsute adornments. An adult adopted by foster parents was obliged to have his beard shaved, and the shaving of beard and hair was a punishment inflicted on criminals. The jurisprudence of our ancestors dealt with punishment "by skin and hair" for small offenses and "by neck and hand" for greater crimes.

There has always been more or less superstition about hair. Great strength was implied by it, and wizards and witches knew of concoctions of hair by which they poisoned enemies. Cat's hair was especially named in the category of poisonous hairs, and even at the beginning of the seventeenth century Paulus Zacchias, a famous physician, writes of the virulent poison of the hair of cats.

Among civilized people such superstitious beliefs have gone out of existence, and only Malays give their enemies tiger hairs in broth to kill them.

THE HUMAN RIBS.

Man Has Twelve Pairs, and Woman Has Just the Same.

A man who had been sick said he was so thin he could count his ribs.

When I heard this statement I asked, "How many did you count?" He was unable to answer. Several friends were standing by, and the query was put to them. Not a man could tell the number of his ribs. One bright chap said in all seriousness that a woman has one more rib than a man, because man lost one in the fashioning of woman. And, do you know, this belief is common? Suddenly spring the question on any acquaintance you may happen to meet in the day's journeying. Unless he be a medical man he will in all probability be unable to answer.

It is an anatomical fact that man has twelve pairs of ribs and woman the same number. The four short ribs, two on each side, are the "free" ribs, and in all probability Eve was made of one of these. A man could manage to struggle through life without his free ribs, and I have no doubt that ere long some corset manufacturer will require woman to have hers removed in order to lengthen her waist and to reduce its girth. To break a few of the aternal ribs (ten altogether) is nothing; to break some of the aternal (fourteen in number) ones is far more serious.—New York Press.

If You Don't

Succeed the first time use Herbine and you will get instant relief. The greatest liver regulator. A positive cure for constipation, dyspepsia, malaria, chills and all liver complaints. Mr. C. of Emory, Tex., writes: "My wife has been using Herbine for herself and children for five years. It is a sure cure for constipation and malaria fever, which is substantiated by what it has done for my family." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

The Greek Symposium.

The Greek symposium was literally "drinking together," but before the drinking fully began there was a banquet, more or less elaborate, as the wealth and taste of the host might dictate. The guests came in their best. Even old Socrates, Plato tells us in his "Dialogue" on the subject, was not above taking a little extra pains when he was invited out. Some one met him one day in the market place, "fresh from the bath and sandaled," and as the sight of the sandals was unusual, he asked him whether he was going that day was so fine. "To a banquet at Agathon's," he replied, "and I have put on my finery because he is a fine creature. What say you to going with me unbidden?"

His Revolution.

"Speaking of revolutions," began the loquacious man, "I was the central figure in one myself once."

"Somewhere in South America?" "No; in Massachusetts. I got caught in the shafting of a woolen mill."—Philadelphia Ledger.

He Marked.

"This," said the enthusiastic young reporter, "is going to be one of the best stories the paper has had for a month. Now, mark my words." Whereupon the editor seized his large club shaped blue pencil and so did.

A BIG DEAL IN TIMBER LANDS

Big Tract Changes Hands in Levy County, On Suwannee River.

A BIG TURPENTINE FARM

Will be Started by a Georgia Concern, Which Will Give Employment to Hundreds of Men—R. F. Lewis Will Continue in Contracting Work.

A big deal in timber lands was consummated in this city a day or two ago, with the result that Levy county will be benefited several thousand dollars a month in the naval stores industry.

R. F. Lewis has sold to Smith, Coppage & Co. of Valdosta, Ga., a tract comprising 5,840 acres of the finest timber land in Levy county, bordering on the banks of the old Suwannee river. This is all virgin timber, and is said to be among the best in the State.

The purchasers, who are very wealthy, and who own and operate various turpentine farms throughout Georgia and Florida, expect to begin within a short time to work this tract, which it is calculated will yield heavily and profitably.

Mr. Lewis, who is extensively engaged in the cross-tie contracting business at Lottville, expects to continue his interests there. He employs a large number of hands, and his payroll is felt heavily by the people of that section.

OPERATION AVOIDED EXPERIENCE OF MISS MERKLEY

She Was Told That an Operation Was Inevitable. How She Escaped It.

When a physician tells a woman suffering with serious feminine trouble that an operation is necessary, the very thought of the knife and the operating table strikes terror to her heart, and our hospitals are full of women coming for just such operations.

There are cases where an operation is the only resource, but when one considers the great number of cases of menacing female troubles cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after physicians have advised operations, no woman should submit to one without first trying the Vegetable Compound and writing Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice, which is free.

Miss Margaret Merkley, of 275 Third Street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham: "Loss of strength, extreme nervousness, shooting pains through the pelvic organs, bearing down pains and cramps compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor, after making an examination, said I had a female trouble and ulceration and advised an operation. To this I strongly objected and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The ulceration quickly healed, all the bad symptoms disappeared and I am once more strong, vigorous and well."

Female troubles are steadily on the increase among women. If the monthly periods are very painful, or too frequent and excessive—if you have pain or swelling low down in the left side, bearing-down pains, don't neglect yourself; try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

CARD OF THANKS.

Library Association Appreciates Everyone Who Helped Entertainment.

The entertainment committee of the Library Association wish to extend thanks to the Gainesville public for their very liberal patronage and generous support of the entertainment which was given at the opera house on Tuesday evening for the benefit of the Public Library, and also to all those who gave aid in various ways, especially to the press, Electric Light and Gas Company for lights, to Mr. Layton for opera house, to Mr. Harper for use of piano, to The S. J. Thomas Company, Gainesville Furniture Company and John Seagle for use of furniture and chairs. Especially do we wish to thank the two able directors, Messrs. Hyatt and Roberts, for their valuable time, and also everyone who has taken part in it, for it was only through their united efforts and co-operation that we were able to present this very creditable entertainment and realize the nice sum of $150 for the Public Library.

The crops are looking fine now. The rain we had a week or so ago has about dried out, and we are needing rain again, especially the gardens and vegetable. Beans are getting plentiful now.

Our Sunday school is progressing very well. Some have been kept at home on account of sickness.

The good old "Hard-Shell" had their regular monthly services last Saturday and Sunday. J. L. Beck and wife joined them, and were baptized.

A BRILLIANT SUCCESS.

Entertainment For Public Library Proved Very Interesting.

The dramatic and musical entertainment given under the auspices of the Gainesville Public Library Association in the opera house on Tuesday evening surpassed anything of the kind that has ever been given in Gainesville.

The whole entertainment showed that a great amount of careful planning and execution was given to the affair by the ladies. The hall was handsomely decorated, and the stage setting was singularly appropriate to the one-act play, "The Open Gate," which was splendidly rendered by Miss Alice Nichols, Mrs. W. J. Denby, Mr. Austin Miller and Mr. J. F. Burnett. The whole play went forward with a finished effect. Miss Nichols as Jessie showed careful study and keen appreciation of the possibilities of the character she had to portray. Ably assisted by Mr. Miller, their dialogue was rhythmic and at once compelled the intense interest of the audience, while Mrs. Denby and Mr. Burnett with equal thoroughness added to the delightfulness of the whole play.

The chorus under the direction of Mr. Hyatt was a grand success. Their numbers were marked by a precision and comprehensiveness that is so essential to the proper rendition of part songs. Not only Mr. Hyatt, but the chorus deserve great praise for the way in which they responded to his leadership.

Miss Lovie Goode sang with her usual gracefulness and finish, while the applause of the audience following the piano solos of Miss Burkheim evidenced no lack of appreciation of this young lady's ability.

Mr. Hyatt in his solo work showed a voice of wide range, under perfect command. Gainesville is surely favored in having a man so capable of direction in musical matters.

Mrs. Roberts, in an adaptation of "Faust," was a fitting climax to an evening of such rare enjoyment. The audience was responsive to her every mood in the portrayal of the character of Marguerite, and as the curtain fell on the scene seemed unable to express by a prolonged applause the appreciation they felt of Mrs. Roberts' portrayal.

On every hand expression of approval and a desire for a repetition of events of this character were heard.

We believe that it is greatly to be desired that entertainments of this high order and thorough preparation be made a part of the social life of our city.

SPRING CATARRH.

J. W. McCollum & Co. Sell Hyomei Under Guarantee of Cure.

The changeable weather of spring is directly responsible for the prevalence of catarrhal troubles in Gainesville at the present time.

As a result, J. W. McCollum & Co. had a larger sale for Hyomei the past week than ever before in the years that they have handled this reliable treatment for the cure of catarrh.

If there is a single germ in the system, Hyomei will search it out and absolutely destroy it, completely eradicating the trouble. The remedy has made so many cures among J. W. McCollum & Co.'s customers that they offer to pay for it themselves if it does not benefit even the worst case of catarrh.

The entire outfit costs only $1, consisting of an inhaler, medicine dropper and bottle of Hyomei, while extra bottles of Hyomei can be obtained for 50 cents. There will not be even this small expense if Hyomei does not cure, as J. W. McCollum & Co. will return your money.

FIND NO TRACE OF ASSASSINS.

Coroner's Jury Investigating the Murder of Ackerman Family.

Pensacola, Fla., May 17.—The investigation by the coroner's jury into the murder of W. G. Ackerman, his wife and seven children, who were found dead with their skulls crushed and bodies partly cremated in the smoking ruins of their home at Allentown, 10 miles north of Milton, Santa Rosa county, Florida, early Monday morning was continued at Milton throughout the day, but no verdict was reached. A large number of witnesses were examined and there are still several more to be heard.

As far as can be ascertained, there has been no evidence thus far to convict any one with the deed. There is much excitement throughout the county and a subscription of over $1,500 has been taken up which will be offered as a reward for the apprehension of the assassins.

Military Review at Tokio.

Victoria, B. C., May 17.—The steamer Tango Tuesday brought news that the day of her departure from Yokohama military review, in which 50,000 troops took part and all the guns, swords, flags, etc., captured during the war, were on exhibition before the Imperial palace, was held at Tokio. The review was one of the greatest held in Japan and was followed with a banquet to which 6,000 were invited by the emperor. The Japanese government has decided to erect a tourists' hotel costing $1,500,000 at Tokio as a national venture for the encouragement of tourist travel.

TERRIBLE ITCHING SCALP HUMOR

Badly Affected With Sores and Crusts—Extended Down Behind the Ears—Some Years Later Painful and Itching Pustules Broke Out on Lower Part of Body—Son Also Affected.

A TRIPLE CURE BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"About ten years ago my scalp became badly affected with sore and itching humors, crusts, etc., and extending down behind the ears. My hair came out in places also. I was greatly troubled; understood it was eczema. Tried various remedies, so called, without effect. Saw your Cuticura advertisement, and got them at once. Applied them as to directions, etc., and after two weeks, I think, of use, was clear as a whistle.

"I have to state also that late last fall, October and November, 1904, I was suddenly afflicted with a bad eruption, painful and itching pustules over the lower part of the body. I suffered dreadfully. In two months, under the skilful treatment of my doctor, conjoined with Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, I found myself cured.

"Six years ago my son was laid up with a severe cold, a hard cough, and finally painful eruption all over the body. I procured the Cuticura Remedies as soon as possible, and after his faithful use of same as well as ever in two weeks, as well as I can recall. He has never had a return of the illness, as far as I know.

"I have always been pleased to commend the Cuticura Remedies, and testify as to their efficacy. I am a veteran of the late Civil War, '61-'65, between seventy and eighty years of age. Yours truly, H. M. F. Weiss, Rosemond, Christian Co., Ill., Aug. 31, 1905."

Complete External and Internal Treatment for every humor, from Pimples to Scrofula, from Itchiness to Age, consisting of Cuticura Soap, 25c, Ointment, 50c, Resolvent, 50c, the form of Cuticura Control Pills, 25c, per retail of 50c, may be had of all druggists. A single set often cures the most distressing cases when all else fails. Foster Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston, Mass. PRECIPITATED LIVELY DEBATE.

Committee Recommends Extension of Time Limit to Pastors.

Birmingham, Ala., May 17.—The burning issue in the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, Wednesday, was the recommendation contained in the majority report of the itineracy committee extending the pastoral limit from four to six years.

When it was taken up for consideration, it precipitated an earnest debate. A minority report signed by 14 members of the committee opposes any extension of the limit. A special committee on the case of Senator Reed Smoot presented resolutions calling for his expulsion from the senate and urging the president and the senate to bring about a speedy decision. A letter was read from L. O. Murray, assistant secretary of the department of commerce and labor acknowledging receipt by the president of resolutions adopted by the conference against outrages in the Congo. The letter said that the matter had been referred and would be considered. The committee on appeals reported affirmation of the suspension for six months of Rev. W. W. Hicks, from the Holston conference "for the repetition of an indiscretion, it being alleged that he kissed a woman."

Found Dead in Bed.

Denver, May 17.—R. J. McKinney, of Marlin, Tex., 45 years old, was found in a room at the Albany hotel Tuesday night, dead in bed. McKinney came to Denver on Monday from Marlin, Tex., and from an unused ticket in his pocket he is believed to have been enroute to California. In a memorandum book is the address of Mrs. R. J. McKinney, Marlin, Tex., and it is thought the deceased was married. No baggage was found in his room. Coroner Rollins is investigating. It is believed that death was due to natural causes.

Once Wealthy; Now a Pauper.

Chicago, May 17.—A special to a morning paper from Indianapolis says that William Herrick, once a wealthy man of this vicinity, has been admitted to the Friendly Shelter of the Poor House. While rich Mr. Herrick conceived the idea that the Bible was made purposely mysterious, and attempted to straighten out the difficult passages by research and study. For years his business was neglected, and finally led to his being entered in the poor house to which he was at one time the heaviest contributor.

Former Consul a Pauper.

New York, May 17.—Don Emanuel Contreras y Crooke, for more than 30 years a member of the Spanish consular service, holding appointments at Athens, Pekin, Glasgow, Amoy and Algiers, is detained at Ellis Island. He has relatives in the vicinity of New York, but Immigration Commissioner Watchorn says a morning paper got a letter from some one saying that the old man was a pauper and would probably become a public charge if permitted to land.

Was Wasting Away.

"I had been troubled with kidney disease for the last five years," writes Robert R. Watts, of Salem, Mo. "I lost flesh and never felt well and doctored with leading physicians and tried all remedies suggested without relief. Finally, I tried Foley's Kidney Cure and less than two bottles completely cured me, and I am now sound and well." During the summer kidney irregularities are often caused by excessive drinking or being overheated. Attend to the kidneys at once by using Foley's Kidney Cure. J. W. McCallum & Co.

A Pair of Coddlers.

A man with a curious fondness for skullcaps was the Abbe de St. Martin, who, in the seventeenth century, made himself ridiculous by his vagaries. He always wore nine of these articles to keep off the cold and, furthermore, nine pairs of stockings. His mode of passing the night was more remarkable still. He caused to be constructed for himself a bed of ricks, beneath which was a furnace, so arranged that he could regulate it to the degree of warmth he might require, and his bed was fitted with only a very small opening, through which the abbe used to creep when he retired to rest at night.

Even more ludicrous was the contrivance which the great French mathematician, Fourier, designed and used for the protection of his health. He incased himself in a species of box, the interior of which, by some mechanical means, was kept at the only temperature at which he felt he could live without inconvenience. While enveloped in this clumsy affair he was necessarily confined to one spot, but he provided means for the freedom of his head and hands. Even the ills of asthma and rheumatism, one would have thought, were preferable to existence under such circumstances as this, but the French mathematician, we must believe, was of a different opinion.—London Standard.

Vitality of a Frog's Heart.

There is no living creature, according to a Philadelphia surgeon, that has a heart with so much vitality as a frog, especially the species commonly known as the water frog. It is generally known that the aquatic frog will survive for months after the hind legs have been removed. Of course he cannot hop about as he could before losing his principal means of transit, but his fore legs help him to crawl wherever he desires to go. When I began to learn surgery I made a special dissection of a frog one day. I laid the various parts of the body on a table and discovered that life was extinct within a few hours in every organ except the heart. The heart showed valvular motion for a day after it had been severed entirely from the body. I am not aware that any other creature's heart is possessed of such vitality.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Properly Boiled Meat.

To boil meat so as to retain the juices and soluble salts and yet cook it sufficiently it should be plunged into boiling water and boiled rapidly for about ten minutes. After this fast cooking the kettle must be pushed over to the back of the fire, where its contents will simmer gently. This tends to coagulate the outer rind of the meat so that the juices cannot escape. If meat is treated in this manner the inside will be found juicy and tender, but if the meat is allowed to boil it will be found hard and chippy, the goodness having all boiled out of it.

Britain's Oldest Office.

The oldest office under the crown is that of lord high steward, which was in existence before the time of Edward the Confessor—indeed, some authorities say that it was instituted by Offa in 757. For a long period this official was second only to the king, and the office was for some time hereditary in certain noble families.—Tit-Bits.

Pirating Foley's Honey and Tar.

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. These worthless imitations have similar sounding names. Beware of them. The genuine Foley's Honey and Tar is in a yellow package. Ask for it and refuse any substitute. It is the best remedy for coughs and colds. J. W. McCallum & Co.

Luck Money.

"Handsel" is the first money received for the day ("luck money"), that which is given back "for luck" by the seller to the buyer. Spitting upon it is the essence of the whole transaction, and it is practiced today, not only all over England, but all over the world. We know from many classical authors what virtue was believed by ancient Greeks and Romans (see Potter, "Archaeol. Graec." I., 417) to lie in the act, and there is also abundant evidence of the belief all through the middle ages, and now in the twentieth century it remains as strong as ever. Otto Jahn says: "I have often seen the fishwives of Ellerbeck, when they had got handgeld from my mother, how they spat upon it. They say that it brings them besunders gluck. They will not tell the reason. Certainly it is done to keep off witchcraft." The same thing is done by modern Egyptians and by Italians. At Posillipo I gave a penny to a deaf mute. He first spat on it, then put it to his forehead, and lastly devoutly crossed himself with it, precisely (except the crossing) as is done by modern Egyptians. Even in faroff Celebes the natives spit in the same way as a protective rite.—Notes and Queries.

When Watches Were New.

At first the watch was about the size of a dessert plate. It had weights and was used as a "pocket clock." The earliest known use of the modern name occurs in the record of 1552, which mentions that Edward VI. had "one larum or watch of iron, the case being likewise of iron gilt, with two plummetts of lead." The first watches may readily be supposed to have been of rude execution. The first great improvement, the substitution of springs for weights, was in 1550. The earliest springs were not coiled, but only straight pieces of steel. Early watches had only one hand, and, being wound up twice a day, they could not be expected to keep time nearer than fifteen or twenty minutes in the twelve hours. The dials were of silver or brass. The cases had no crystals, but opened at the back and front and were four or five inches in diameter. A plain watch cost the equivalent of $1,600 in our currency, and after one was ordered it took a year to make it.

Trolling For Tarpon.

It is not easy to hook a tarpon while trolling, for his mouth is very hard, says Julian A. Dimock in Country Life in America, and much skill may doubtless here be shown. In the playing of the fish the work is about the same as in still fishing save that more care must be used, as the hook is probably not firmly imbedded. An old fisherman told me that he liked to be sure of his fish and so preferred still fishing, but to my mind it is one of the objections to that method. Another and stronger objection is the disturbance of my feelings in thinking that I am pulling against a fish's "inards." If the line does break the chance of the victim's being able to free himself from the hook is problematical, while in trolling it is the work of a minute after the strain is off the line until a sore mouth is the only symptom remaining.

SCARED THE ARTIST.

Story of the Duke of Athall and the Cartoonist Leech.

Many years ago a Duke of Athall was held up to execration in Punch for shutting up Glen Tilt and forbidding all trespassing under pains and penalties. This recalls a good story about John Leech, told by himself at a dinner given by his friend Millais, at which Landseer and Thackeray were present. It was Leech "who held up to execration" the Duke of Athall. Look in Punch of 1850 and you will see the old nobleman there depicted as a savage, snarling hound and underneath the picture the words "A Scotch Dog the Manger." This is followed by another pleasantry at the expense of the duke, who in a scene from the burlesque performed at Glen Tilt is made to say, "These are Clan Athall's warriors true, and Saxons, I'm the regular one."

Some time after this Leech, making a summer tour in Scotland, found himself toward nightfall walking "in the profaned heather of Glen Tilt, sacred to dukes and deer," and presently met, face to face, the duke on horseback, attended by a groom. "Is it possible," his grace exclaimed, "that I have the pleasure of meeting John Leech?"

The artist, disconcerted, explained that it was growing late and he was on his way to the village inn to stay the night. The duke would not hear of this and, ordering his groom to dismount and help the artist into the saddle, insisted that the latter should go with him to the hall. Leech was overpowered by the old gentleman's kindness, and, as no refusal would be listened to, he accepted it. But he was still a little nervous. The duke noticed it, and it seemed to please him.

On arriving at a narrow and rather dangerous path skirting a precipice, feeling his companion hold back, he gruffly told him to advance. "Now," thought poor Leech, "he'll have his revenge." The duke spoke out, "Are you the man who slandered me in Punch?" he sternly demanded. The artist felt his heart sink within him. He looked down from the dizzy height and thought of his wife and children. There was but one thing for him to do. He made a full confession and a full apology, and the old gentleman, having succeeded in thoroughly scaring him, magnanimously forgave him. Host and guest duly arrived at the hall, and dinner was ordered. Leech was shown to his dressing room, where he patiently awaited the sound of the gong. Hour after hour went by, and no sound came. He began to suspect that the duke's revenge was not complete and that he was being held a prisoner. He rang the bell.

It was answered by a scornful lackey. "I am afraid," said Leech, "that the dinner gong has sounded and I have not heard it. Is dinner ready?" "Sir," replied the pompous flunky, "when dinner is ready you will hear the gong," and disappeared. Another hour went by. He rang the bell. The flunky entered. The same inquiry was made, and the same reply was given. Leech gave up in despair. But at last came 10 o'clock and with it the looked for music of the gong. Dinner was served. It appeared that the duke had taken his usual nap and, being fatigued by the day's hunting, had overslept himself, and no one in the house had resumed to awake him.—New York Herald.

An Old News Rag.

A curious relic of the old days of the paper duties which so much hampered journalistic enterprise in the first half of the nineteenth century is the first number of Berthold's Political Hand-drawn, being a news sheet printed on a cotton fabric instead of paper. It was dated London, Saturday, Sept. 3, 1831; price, fourpence. And the letter-press, which is fairly legible, is as remarkable as the material on which it is printed. The tone of this news rag is intensely radical, but it reproduces the order of ceremonial to be observed at the coronation of King William IV. and Queen Adelaide on the following Saturday, and it is announced that a proclamation to the people of Europe will appear in our "next cotton." It is embellished with a medallion woodcut of Napoleon crossing the Alps, but the ink in this pictorial effort was too thick for the cotton, and the Alps are a fog and the emperor, on horseback, very indistinct.—London Mail.

Finesse and Sweetheart.

For centuries we have tried to get the word that expresses the relation of a man to the maid he intends to marry. "Intended" has been tried and failed, and "My bloke," "my chum," "my man"—these combinations are all heard in the best circles. "My betrothed," a phrase used in Germany, is not taken root in England. "My sweetheart" is pretty enough, but it lacks the official sound. Young men and maidens become engaged and married, but they have to cross the channel to the shore that leads them to the altar. One might suggest to the blushing girl who has to allude to the man her sweetheart "my future." French girls speak of "mon futur" and it is quite comprehensive.—London Chronicle.

Epitaphs in English Churchyard.

A desperate attempt at an epitaph in the Nonconformist Campo Santo in Bunhill Fields, where Bunyan, Defoe, the Cromwells and Mrs. Wesley lie buried, is found on the tomb of Lady Page, a person who seems to have suffered terribly from what we call dropsy, but which might have had another name in those days:

Relict of Sir Gregory Page (Bart.).
She departed this life March 11, 1728,
In the 56th year of her age.

In 67 months she was tapped 65 times.
Had taken away 240 gallons of water.
Without ever repining at her case
Or ever fearing the operation.

A more successful attempt is that found on the tomb of Vavasor Powell, who seems to have suffered eleven years' imprisonment for preaching the gospel. He was known as the "White-field of Wales."

In vain oppressors do themselves perplex
To find out arts how they the saints may vex.
Death spoils their plots and sets the oppressed free;

Thus Vavasor obtained true liberty.
Christ him released, and now he's joyed among
The martyred souls, with whom he cries,
"How long?"

—Chambers' Journal.

Postmaster Robbed.

G. W. Fouts, postmaster at River-ton, Ia., nearly lost his life and was robbed of all comfort, according to his letter, which says: "For 20 years I had chronic liver complaint, which led to such a severe case of jaundice that even my finger nails turned yellow; when my doctor prescribed Electric Bitters, which cured me and have kept me well for eleven years." Sure cure for biliousness, neuralgia, weakness and all stomach, liver, kidney and bladder derangements. A wonderful tonic. At all drug stores. 50 cents.

Wonders of Baalbec.

Baalbec, or Baalbek, is the name given a ruined city lying in ancient Coele-Syria, forty-five miles northwest of Damascus. There is nothing particularly remarkable about a ruined city being found in the locality mentioned, but the size of the blocks of stone used by the ancient builders of this particular city is something that has puzzled the modern engineers since the day when Baalbec was first made the Mecca of the oriental traveler. There are immense stones on every side of the visitor to this ancient pile of ruins, but the three most remarkable blocks—said to be the largest ever used in the construction of a building—are in a wall back of the temple of Baal. These immense stones are respectively sixty-four, sixty-three and sixty-two feet in length, and each is thirteen feet in thickness, but the most wonderful thing in connection with them is the fact that they are at a place in the wall twenty-five feet from the ground. How these immense blocks of granite were ever raised to such a height is a question that has never yet been answered.

Fortunate Missourians.

"When I was a druggist at Livonia, Mo.," writes T. J. Dwyer, now of Grayville, Mo., "three of my customers were permanently cured of consumption by Dr. King's New Discovery, and are well and strong today. One was trying to sell his property and move to Arizona, but after using New Discovery a short time he found it unnecessary to do so. I regard Dr. King's New Discovery as the most wonderful medicine in existence." Surest cough and cold cure and lung healer. Guaranteed by all druggists. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

The People of Great Britain.

Ethnologically Great Britain is a mixture of many races, resulting from a succession of invasions. When the Romans invaded Britain the inhabitants were Celtic, mixed with an earlier Euskarian non-Aryan element. They continued to be mainly so until the fifth and sixth centuries, when the lowland parts of the country were overrun by German tribes. Then followed invasions by the Danes and other Scandinavian tribes and lastly the Norman conquest. The inhabitants of England and the lowlands of Scotland, therefore, sprang from an amalgamation of the original Celtic with German and Scandinavian blood. Wales and the highlands of Scotland are still inhabited by descendants of the ancient Celtic tribes. The people of Ireland also are of Celtic origin, although there is an admixture of many other races.
